3. School Vision & Values

Mrs Stobbart started by showing the meeting a draft of the new school vision and values statements that the staff had worked on at the recent inset day; this was as a follow up to work that Mrs Rooney had undertaken with the children relating to both this and Christian values, explaining how the final draft was achieved.

Mr Cronin asked 'Why they state British Values and Christian Values?' There is a set of British Values described in the current national curriculum framework.

It was then asked for input from the Governors into what had been produced so far; after discussions it was agreed that the statements were short, straight to the point and concise, ideal for the purpose they were required for and staff were thanked for the work they had put into producing this.

All agreed to publish the content as is which also incorporated the schools motto of 'Caring, Sharing and always Learning'
